Upper School Chemistry Teacher

Richmond, Virginia, United States • Science • 2019-2

Description

St. Catherine's School, an Episcopal day school in Richmond, Virginia, seeks an Upper School chemistry teacher to begin work starting with the 2019-2020 school year.

St. Catherine's seeks a dynamic and skilled classroom teacher whose passion is teaching girls chemistry starting with the 2019-2020 school year. St. Catherine's state-of-the-art Armfield Science Center and excellent library resources will support the successful candidate in engaging girls in an outstanding learning environment. The successful candidate will inspire girls to become leaders in STEM fields and should be active in professional organizations. In addition to classroom responsibilities, the position includes serving as an advisor to a group of students, sponsoring extra-curricular activities, and engaging in collaborative curriculum work with colleagues.

St. Catherine's School is an Episcopal day school in Richmond, Virginia, founded in 1890 and enrolling 993 girls age 3 through grade 12. Located on a 16-acre campus in the western part of the city, St. Catherine's Core Values include pursuing academic excellence and developing character.
