JOB OPENING FOR 2022-2023

Full-time Religion Teacher

Georgetown Visitation Preparatory School invites applications for a full-time position as a teacher in the Religion Department for the 2022-2023 academic year. Located in Washington, DC, and founded in 1799, Georgetown Visitation Preparatory School educates young women in grades 9 – 12 in a faith-centered community focused on educational excellence and rooted in the Roman Catholic faith and Salesian tradition.

Successful candidates should have a strong academic background in theology and previous teaching experience in the subject, preferably at the secondary level, along with energy, enthusiasm, and a desire to communicate and work with young women. As the school community places great value on Christian Service, retreats, liturgy and community, interest in Campus Ministry, service, and service learning is also valued.

Candidates must also be willing to work closely with departmental colleagues in a collaborative setting. Pre-existing certification to teach Religion in the Archdiocese of Washington is helpful, but not required. As per certification expectations, candidates must be practicing Catholics.

Georgetown Visitation Preparatory School provides equal employment opportunities (EEO) to all employees and applicants without regard to their age, color, disability status, national or ethnic origin, race, religion, sex, veteran status, or any other class protected by state or federal law. As a Catholic school, Georgetown Visitation Preparatory School reserves the right to use religion as a hiring criterion for selected positions, as permitted by law. Employment offers are contingent on the satisfactory outcome of a standard background screening.

Proof of vaccination is required for this position.
